

Jessica Roland is passionate about Spanish education and has a wealth of knowledge in the field. She has successfully increased student attendance, teacher retention, and sport participation and holds multiple educational certifications. She is dedicated to helping students reach their full potential and create a positive learning environment. Her passion and expertise are an asset to any educational setting, and she is committed to leveraging her knowledge in order to provide the best possible learning experience. Jessica is also an enthusiastic promoter of cultural diversity, and she seeks to use her experience to bridge gaps and foster understanding between cultures. She is an advocate for the importance of learning a new language, and she has a deep understanding of how it can open up new opportunities for students. She is eager to help students reach their highest potential, and she is committed to providing a positive, enriching learning experience.

University of Alcalá de Henares

Master Spanish Education & Curriculum Design | 2019-2020

Thesis: Curriculum design for the University of North Florida's Spanish Department;
Spanish Cultural and Language Course.

University of North Florida

Bachelor Spanish Studies of LA & Professional Ed. | 2013-2015

Grade: Magna Cum Laude President of Sigma Delta P